ANNOUNCEMENTS

International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance (IHRA) celebrated one of the biggest successes in the history of the organization when the EU came to an agreement on a version of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) which included a specific reference to the Holocaust in the recitals. IHRA began its campaign to ensure that documents bearing on the Holocaust would explicitly not be affected by the GDPR following concerns from IHRA experts that archives were using the Regulation as a pretext to block access to archival materials.

Recital 125b of the GDPR now reads:

"Member States should also be authorised to provide that personal data may be further processed for archiving purposes, for example with a view to providing specific information related to the political behaviour under former totalitarian state regimes, genocide, crimes against humanity, in particular the Holocaust, or war crimes." FYI... Yad Vashem's exhibition, "Art from the Holocaust: 100 Works from the Yad Vashem Collection" was inaugurated by Chancellor Angela Merkel at the German Historical Museum in Berlin on January 25, 2016. The exhibition includes artwork from 50 artists, all but one of whom were Jewish, 24 of whom were murdered by the Nazis and their collaborators. Despite the appalling conditions in which they found themselves and the daily struggle to survive, the artists overcame the paucity of materials with inventiveness, and through their creativity reasserted their individuality and their will to live. In portraying their brethren, the Jewish artists were able to commemorate them for future generations, thus defying the Nazis process of dehumanization and annihilation. Beyond the variety of approaches, the different styles and the multiplicity of themes evoked, all the artworks testify to the power of the human spirit that refused to surrender. A selection of the artworks featured in the exhibition may be viewed on Yad Vashem's website.

Righteous Among the Nations Event in DC included Recognition of Americans

On January 27, 2016, International Day of Commemoration in Memory of the Victims of the Holocaust, a unique ceremony honoring Righteous among the Nations was held at the Israeli Embassy in Washington, DC. The event marked the first time that a ceremony presenting medals and certificates of honor to American Righteous Among the Nations was held in the United States. Americans Roddie Edmonds and Lois Gunden and Polish citizens Walery and Maryla Zbijewski, were recognized for risking their lives to rescue Jews during the Holocaust.

The medals and certificates of honor were accepted on the Righteous' behalf by their next of kin. Holocaust survivors who were rescued by the Righteous were present at the event, as well as President Obama; Israel's Ambassador to the US Ron Dermer; Rabbi Israel Meir Lau, Chairman of the Yad Vashem Council; and Leonard Wilf, Chair of the American Society for Yad Vashem.
